

Jennifer Akin is a Co-Director of Applied Research, responsible for overseeing Blue Star Families' policy, social impact and member research, and program evaluation efforts. In this role, Jenny translates data into understanding to improve military family policies, organizational programming, and employees' sense of purpose. She is a thought leader on developing attainable social impact goals for Blue Star Families and has developed an interdisciplinary framework to maximize this impact at the BSF Chapter level. She and her family are currently stationed at Fort Bragg, NC.